aavin,gs bank accounts to the legal successor of a deceased customer;

(b) whether Government have framed any orders/regulations in this regard; and

(c) if so, what are the details there of?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI JANARDHAN POOJARI); (J) to (c) Ordinarily payment of balances standing to the credit of a deceased depositor requires the claimant to produce legally accepted evidence of tit'e. However, to avoid the delays involved in obtaining such evidence in respect of small depositors, banks have evolved procedures whereunder the balances standing to the credit of the deceased depositors are paid to successors after obtaining' cortain documents such as claim application. death cc-tificate, indemnity bond/ snre'i'-s, consent letters from other legal heirs affidavit indicating particulars of legal heirs, etc.

Now depositors have the facility of nominating the person/s to whom balances to the credit of their accounts should be paid after their demise.
